

STAGNANT SHOTS KILL A RACE RIOT IN TULSA PLANE

The Associated Negro Press. TULSA, Okla., June 15.—The Tulsa riot was widely publicized. An excuse for starting the riot was given by a foolish Negro led by a silly, irresponsible white girl. Result: more than 200 whites killed and wounded while the casualties among the Negroes amounted to about 100 people, all told. Property losses were confined wholly to "white areas" and amounted to more than $2,000,000.

Completion of an $85,000 church was the straw which broke the camel's back of prejudice and made ready for the consummation of a riot that was regarded the most diabolically fiendish in the history of the United States. To this chapter of horror was added the outspoken declaration to lynch J. R. Stradford and James Southman, two of the more prominent Negro business men of Tulsa, should they be among the few leaders who managed to escape the clutches of the mob.

Even the white clergy were among those who gave sanction to the terrible process of wholesale destruction of property and attempted general slaughter of the Negro race. The result was a determined effort to prosop and lynch. This statement is given force and color by the facts that the business section and the better residential district in "white Tulsa" were first placed in the "hot zone" of the riot. "Had there been no effort to lynch 'Little Africa' of Tulsa, there would have been no riot," declared an intelligent Negro to the Associated Negro Press. "The white mob would have been no riot," declared an intelligent Negro to the Associated Negro Press. "The white mob would have been no riot," declared an intelligent Negro to the Associated Negro Press.

Shilfman's whereabouts have not been discovered up to this date. Stradford, however, was located in Kansas, and an effort to extradite him was frustrated by his son, J. R. Stradford, a Chicago attorney, who succeeded in getting his father out of the hands of the Kansas authorities. The Kansas authorities are now proceeding. The elder Stradford had not been alone located. Should either of them men be located, the white mob would surely be added to the awful list of horrors that have already visited this unfortunate place.

In the meantime there is a group of white citizens who are offering restitution be provided for the Negroes by releasing and replacing their lost homes at the expense of the white community. This offer appears to be bona fide. It seems to be qualified by providing a plan which will require the white people from the occupancy of the district that was so wantonly destroyed. The plan has not yet been given. It is not clear that it will be given much choice to the matter.

PRESIDENT HARDING DEPLORES TULSA RIOT AFTER RECEIVING N. A. A. C. TELEGRAM.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People feels that an utterance from you at this time on the violence and rioting in Tulsa, Oklahoma, would have an incalculable effect on the Negro race.

IRONY OF KINDNESS AT TULSA, OKLAHOMA
The Associated Negro Press. TULSA, Okla., June 15.—(Associated Press.)—The irony of kindness at Tulsa, Oklahoma, is a subject that has been widely discussed. The fact that the white mob targeted the Negro business district for destruction, while the white residents of the same city offered restitution, is a stark contrast.

JEALOUS HUSBAND HAS A LIVELY TIME AT THE BOOKER WASHINGTON.

Henry A. Dixon's Jealous Girls have a lively frolic in "The Jealous Husband" at the Booker Washington Theatre this week. The theme has been repeated a number of times here but it is always amusing. A husband who must be gone from home for a time reacts through his wife to the situation. This practically excludes all her friends. She does not live up to the regulations, however, and he returns to find the home crowded. The situation ends in an amiable manner and no one gets killed. The comedy is directed by the home man who is also the author of the play.

ALL STAR REVUE NEXT WEEK

Hightower and Zeek's All Star Revue will open at the Booker Washington Theatre Monday night. This is expected to be an extraordinary attraction, featuring King Rastus Brown the Champion Buck and Wing Dancer.

ADMISSION FREE AT MANHATTAN GARDEN
BEGINNING MONDAY

The Manhattan Cafe and Garden will inaugurate an admission free policy beginning Monday, for one day, except Sunday and holidays. The management also announces a big cut in prices on everything. There is no change in the high class entertainment offered by this popular place, which always features the latest musical acts.

AT THE MOVIES—

"Good Women," "God's Gold" and "The Mistress of Shenstone" at Star.

An up-to-date problem—the right of the individual, especially a woman to make modern conventions is the theme of "Good Women." It is a story worked out in a sound common-sense manner. An American businesswoman declines the right to live her own life as she sees fit and defies the moralistic geometry prevalent in society at large. After many adventures she finds herself socially ostracized and the role of slavery.

On Sunday "God's Gold" will be the feature picture. The picture presents Earl Williams in the role of a sea captain and his quest for buried treasure is marked by the continuous coming and going of a fight with his mutinous crew. The destruction of two ships by fire at sea, and the death of his sweetheart from the clutches of a gang of bandits are but a few of the exciting situations in the picture.

Next Thursday, "The Mistress of Shenstone" will be the feature. It is the story of a woman who receives a fatal report of her husband's death, then gives her life to another. But like a bolt out of a clear sky, shattering their happiness, and making the way clear for her to come the news that the report of her husband's death is false. She finds the situation which then arises how she succeeds in keeping true to the wonderful love of the man who has come into her life, and at last, she is enabled to meet her husband's desire, through the many dramatic moments in the screen version of this famous novel.

"Trust Your Wife" and "Wm. S. Hart" at the Criterion.

Katherine MacDonald in "Trust Your Wife" will be featured at the Criterion Theatre this Saturday. She will be seen in a role that binds out a real job to a really jealous husband and the play itself is a home-splendid natural emphasizing the irreconcilable value of marriage. She plays the part of Margo Hastings, who leaves the noble wife with her husband's new mistress. New York—Dick is an architect and has a scheme, which he believes will make him rich, but he needs financial backing, and because of this, an alluring romance is unfolded. The best feature of the picture has been made by William S. Hart to date. "Trust Your Wife" is the picture which will be shown at the Criterion on Sunday. It presents him as a member of the Canadian mounted police who while in pursuit of a murderer, falls in love with the sister of his quarry. There are many remarkable scenes in the picture and those who like to see Mr. Hart in one of his big role handlings, will not be disappointed.

"Passion Fruit" and "Someone in the House" at Jed-a-mere.

Dorland, the world's greatest dancer, will be featured in "Passion Fruit" at the Jed-a-mere Theatre this Sunday and Monday. It is a turbulent drama of the moonlit tropics. A heart-rending situation, powerful in theme and enchanting in beauty. "The seeds" is located in the flaming, alien land far away in the South Seas where palm trees are silky black against the gorgeous skies where the surf booms loudly over his reef and slides at last up to the broad beach green-white in the moonlight. A terrible and wailing pain of the earth, where both love and death come quickly as a typhoon. On Tuesday a double feature program will be presented with "Conway" in "The Charming Devil" and "The Wednesday Evening" attraction will be "Someone in the House." The power of a pulse-rendering man in the silken elegance of a great diamond thief. How the raveling looks of a raveling woman with a society parasite from his nefarious jangle form a story that is tense in dramatic power.

WAS AN LAW BROKEN AT TULSA, OKLAHOMA?

The Associated News Press)

The Truth is, that the Constitution allows, this country to do anything it wants to do. It even allows it to go into Haiti and kill three thousand Haitians to keep two keep two or three Haitians from killing each other, when not a single American citizen was even in danger.

Attorney General Daugherty has ordered an inquiry to find out whether any of the laws of the nation were violated at Tulsa, Oklahoma.

They need another Alexander Hamilton, to show them that a Constitution which gives a nation life, gives it by implication all the necessary power and function in it. A nation that can take the lives of its citizens, ought to be suffered to defend them.

If the Constitution gives the nation the right to take the lives of its citizens on the battlefields of France, does it not give also the right to defend them on the streets of Tulsa? Hamilton, or Lincoln or anybody else, with eyes could see at a glance that the nation could defend the right to defend those lives. If for no better reason than that, they may be needed again on some battle line for the nation. It is not a strange and silly technicality to claim that the nation can defend the

It is the saddest phase of the whole matter, that the great nation is in doubt as to whether any of its laws were violated by murder, massacre, arson and general savagery in the heart of the nation. Were any of the

That is the question. Will somebody answer it for the administration? Could the federal post office function in Tulsa during the riot? Could mail be delivered to the people who

The St. Louis Pioneer now claim a stronger team than ever. Some weak positions have been replaced with new men who are good betters. The managers now believe they have a winning team, and are now able to go to the top of the list in the state of best teams. The club has won
